

Coming Home with Ian McBurney

Be inspired by an expert communicator with stories of sustainability and opportunities for change!

breaze.org.au

Ian McBurney is an ecological sustainability mentor for government, business and communities. He has a degree in environmental engineering and has spent ten years at the cutting edge of environmental education, working with over 150 Sustainability Street Villages, delivering sustainability culture change training in workplaces to over 6000 people, performing to 10,000 students in the famous Vox bandicoot environmental theatre program and lately mentoring businesses on the journey to sustainability. He is a lively, passionate and thought provoking. His message is of the urgency of our ecological challenges, yet also of hope, imagination and opportunities: the winds of change are blowing from many fronts – and every decision we make, every day is changing the course of history. You can find out more about Ian at www.liveecological.com.au

SATURDAY 26 MARCH 7pm: Drinks & finger food provided 8pm: Coming Home presentation

Entry by donation. RSVP: Andrew Bray, by Thursday 24 March: andrew@breaze.org.au or phone 5329 1730

OLD GOLDEN POINT PRIMARY SCHOOL Cnr English & Dunn Sts., Golden Point (off Grant Street)